Gym Exhibitions To Be Held At White Oak And Proximity YMCA's

Fathers And Mothers Of Younger Boys Urged To Attend; Time 7:30 P. M.

One hundred and twenty-five persons will take part in the gymnasium exhibition to be held at the Proximity Y., Thursday night, April 13, and at the White Oak Y., Friday night, April 14, at 7:30.

The program will consist of tumbling, gymnastics and relay races by the junior boys. Aparatus stunts, pyramids, health exhibit, physical fitness demonstrations, and games by the older boys and adults. Some of the younger boys have developed some fine stunts on the mats and apparatus. The older folks too, have some real worthwhile demonstrations to exhibit. The public is cordially invited. There will be no admission charge.

The fathers and mothers of the younger boys are urged to attend. These little fellows have been working hard to perfect some very fine stunts and they would lik for their parents to see them perform.

Final Rites Held Sunday For Mrs. Sally Whitley

Final rites were held last Sunday at 3:00 P.M. at Eller Memorial Baptist church, Proximity, for Mrs. Sally E. Whitley, 66, whose death occurred last Saturday at St. Leo's hospital as a result of accidental burns suffered Friday. The pastor, Rev. J. H. Smith was in charge of the services, and was assisted by Rev. C. W. Swaney of Burlington. Interment followed in Green Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Whitley, wife of the late Avery Whitley, was a native of Chatham county, but had resided in Proximity for about 25 years. She left Proximity about 10 days before to make her home with a daughter, Mrs. S. A. Robertson, in the Sandy Ridge community. She was an active member of Eller Memorial Baptist church until the time of her death.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. C. M. May, Greensboro and Mrs. S. A. Robertson, of the Sandy Ridge community; one son, D. H. Whitley, route 7, Greensboro; one sister, Mrs. E. L. Scott, Greensboro, and two brothers, Walter Oldham, High Point and Bud Oldham, Washington.

Pallbearers were T. A. McAdams, J. C. Rogers, W. R. Barrier, W. A. Aydelette, Albert Lewis and E. W. Baynes.

Special Notice!

Please give your name when you leave calls for the nurse in your respective district. This will save a great deal of confusion for the party taking the call and for the nurse answering it.

Will the person who borrowed the bed pan from the White Oak welfare department please return it to Miss Tilley or Mrs. Turner at once.

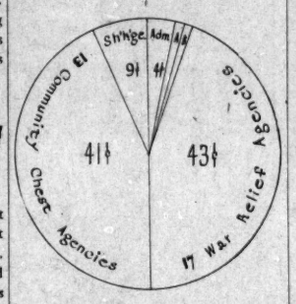
Greensboro Community And War Chest List Distributions

Information Is Given On How Money Taken In Each Year Is Spent By Community War Chest

Have you ever stopped to think of exactly how the money you give to the Community and War Chest is spent? As a contributor and a responsible citizen of Greensboro you undoubtedly want to know how the Community and War Chest dollar is distributed.

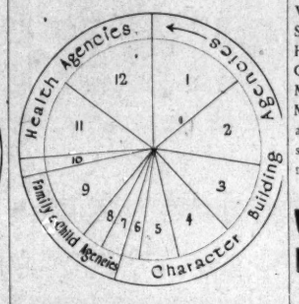
In addition to bringing comfort and pleasure to our boys in the service through the U. S. O., the War Prisoners Aid and the United Seamen Service; relief assistance and moral support to our fighting allies; and care for thousands of homeless refugees from many foreign countries — your dollar provides a substantial part of the welfare and health program of our city.

Your War Chest Dollar



The first circle chart shows how your Community and War Chest dollar is divided. The War Relief agencies—and there are 17 of them—this year received 43 cents out of every dollar contributed to the Community and War Chest; administration, which covers collection of pledges, bookkeeping, budgeting and supervision of the agencies, will cost 4 cents for this year; the campaign for raising the money required one and a half cents; another one and a half cents will go for publicity and public relations; 9 cents of the dollar is set aside for shrinkage in collections due to persons moving from the city, inducted in the armed forces, or unable to pay pledge. This leaves 41 cents of your dollar for thirteen local community chest agencies . . . 41 cents fighting here at home to keep Greensboro the kind of a city to which our men in service will take pride in coming back to. They are fighting for a democratic world, for a home town that is upright and clean, for a community that provides health service, nursing care, relief for the needy and character building opportunities for their kid brothers and sisters. Your dollar makes these soldiers of ours know that you and thousands of other people in Greensboro are working with them on this big program.

Your Community Chest Dollar



The second circle chart is made to represent a whole dollar—the dollar provided for the thirteen local chest agencies. In 1944, these agencies will receive $87,695.90 out of the $213,665.00 which you helped raise in Greensboro last fall in our annual campaign. At a glance at the circle, then, you can see where your Community Chest dollar goes. Number one—representing the Y.W.C.A.—has a budget of $11,905 for 1944 or 13.6 cents of each dollar. Number 2, the Boy Scouts, budget $10,530 or 12.6 cents; Number 3, Y.M.C.A. Central branch, $10,064 or 11.5 cents; Number 4, Girl Scouts, $8,875 or 10 cents; Number 5, Hayes-Taylor branch of the Y.M.C.A. $5,280 or 6 cents; Number 6, Red Shield Boys Club, $1200, or 1.4 cents. These are the privately financed character building agencies of the Chest.

The Family and Child agencies include Number 7, the Rest Cottage with a chest budget of $2520, or 2.9 cents; Number 8, the Travelers Aid Society, $2431, or 2.8 cents; Number 9, the Salvation Army, $9,690 or 11.4 cents. Number 10 includes the Social Service Exchange and the Guilford Inter-racial Commission, $1,920 or 1.7 cents. The two health agencies are Number 11, the Nursing Council with a budget of $11,217.65 representing 12.8 cents and the Medical and Hospitalization Fund, $12,153.25 or 13.9 cents of your dollar.

You can see that our annual Community and War Chest campaign means 17 drives for the War Relief

Print Works Plant Wins Pennant For First Period

Pennant To Be Flown Over Plant For Period Of One Month; Second Period Ends April 22nd

Winner of the pennant for the mill having best attendance record from February 28 to March 25 is Proximity Print Works with a 92.71 percent attendance. The pennant will be flown from the Print Works flag staff for the next month when it will be passed on to the mill having the best attendance in the current period which will end Saturday, April 22.

The mill departments winning the right to display an attendance flag are: Proximity Mill Shipping Room; Revolution Napping Room, second shift; White Oak Dye House, second shift; Print Works Napping.

Percentage of attendance for the entire period are given below for all Mill Departments. Although outside departments are not included in the flag contest, their attendance is an important factor in determing the mill which wins the pennant.

Flags will be presented to winning departments on an early date.

Points On Selective Service

General Hershey, in a radio speech Tuesday night, did much to dispel the fog of confusion in connection with future selective service plans.

The endless debate which is centered around this important subject has done much to upset not only those who are subject to calls from draft boards but also those whose responsibility it is to plan production in order to satisfy the exacting needs of the government in prosecuting the war and in meeting the essential requirements of the public.

Although the General was unable to give a complete outline as to what will happen, as some of the important features must be still definitely passed on by either the President or Congress he did clear up many very important points and indicate what we can expect in regard to the others.

In respect to registrants under twenty-six years of age, he left little room for question, as he stated rather emphatically that all of them, with very rare exceptions, would be drafted into the Army or Navy if physically fit. He also left little room for doubt that those in that group not meeting the physical standards of the services would be controlled in one way or another. In other words, they would either be placed in limited service or would be required to do essential war work and while so doing "stick on the job".

The General also commented as to those between twenty-six and thirty and left the impression that although the call would not be as far reaching as with those under twenty-six, a high percentage of the twenty-six to thirty age group would be placed in active service if physically fit, but those not meeting the physical requirements would also be expected to go into essential war work and likewise "stick on the job".

In a less drastic degree the same would also apply to those between thirty and thirty-eight.

With the exception of those on farms, it now appears that deferments will be examined very carefully by State Selective Service Directors and the responsibility shifted greatly from local boards to state boards. Local boards will continue to have the responsibility of further investigating deferments for agricultural purposes.

The most impressive part of the General's informative speech was that which dealt with the emphatic intention by the authorities to see that those who are deferred for occupational reasons or who are exempt for physical reasons do productive work for the war effort and do it regularly. He mentioned the fact that the authorities realized that many have been using 4-F classifications to loaf around and lay out and switch jobs at will.

We have opposed the universal draft and we are still not in favor of same. We do feel, however, that those within the draft age limits who are not taken into active service because of physical impairments and for occupational reasons should not abuse their status. In other words, we feel very strongly that they should do their part and should go the limit in doing so on the home front.

Despite optimism during the early part of this year, even on the part of many military leaders, this war is far from won, and it is now very apparent that the manpower and womanpower of this country is going to have to be used as effectively as possible. This may mean that if the proper cooperation is not forthcoming such steps as many of us oppose in principle may result, and the true responsibility for such steps will not rest upon the shoulders of those whose positions require them to issue regulations and orders, but will rest upon the shoulders of those of us who do not cooperate and do our part in prosecuting the war on the home front.

agencies and 13 drives for local community chest agencies. If it were not for the Community Chest each one of these organizations would have been coming to you with a separate appeal. The Community Chest therefore is the efficient way to raise the money necessary for local and national services.

You can take real pride in knowing that by giving to the Community and War Chest once each year, you have played a large part in carrying on the outstanding program of these agencies. A second article next week will describe the work of the Budget Committee and its close supervision of your money from the time it reaches headquarters until it goes into actual service by the agencies.

A meeting is being planned for White Oak employees on Sunday, April 16th at 3:00 P.M. at Ceasar Cone school to report on the work of the Community Chest agencies. As a stockholder you have a right to know why you should give and what you are making possible when you do give to the Community Chest.

WASHINGTON SNAPSHOTS

BY JAMES PRESTON

Opposition has risen in both the Senate and the House against the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration plans to provide hundreds of thousands of farm machines to other nations while American farmers are said to be unable to obtain adequate equipment. Representative Disney (D.,Okla.) characterized the plan as "not only deplorable, but astounding." Senator Reynolds (D.,N.C.) quoted in the Senate from the Truman report, which asserted that the farm machinery program was now behind, and that many farmers have "pressing" need for such equipment. He reported that despite this shortage, UNRRA was planning to send abroad 85,000 plows, 30,000 tractors, 30,000 separators, 30,000 two-wheel trailers and other farm machinery.

Industrial executives from the District of Columbia were among those attending the N.A.M.'s Eighth Institution on Industrial Relations at the Royal Worth Hotel, West Palm Beach, Fla., on April 3-6. A total of around 160 executives from 33 states were present. The conference, which probed every present-day and postwar problem from morale to manpower, was designed to aid in establishing sound human and industrial relations between the nation's workers and managers.

A new slant on the postwar prospects of small business is covered in a Department of Commerce survey which should be of special interest to industries that normally dispose of a large proportion of their output to small distributors. In a nutshell, the survey acknowledges the heavy mortality suffered by small enterprise as a result of the impact of war, but based on a long-range study of business and population trends, it predicts a healthy postwar resurgence.

PICK-UPS from Ceasar Cone School

THIRD GRADE—Room 7

Claude brought a turtle to school today. We named him "Pokey" because he moves so slowly. He hides in his house, which he carries on his back.

THIRD GRADE—Room 9

Donald Paul Cuthbertson is the first one in our room to fill up his stamp book and get a $25 bond.

FOURTH GRADE—Room 8

On Friday, March 31, Miss Schiffman's room presented for its chapel program a play which had been written by the children. It was called, "Six Houses For Rent". It told the story of a boy who had never thought about birds very much, but who had learned that people need the help of birds to protect growing things from being destroyed by insects, rodents and the like.

The boy, Jimmy, learned with interest that birds are the natural enemies of insects but he and his mother were completely surprised to learn how useful owls and hawks are in keeping down the numbers of mice and other destructive animals. The play ended with Jimmy winning a birdhouse contest and resolving to help the birds as much as possible.

The parts in our play were taken as follows: Jimmy, Arnold Culbreth; his mother, Fay Harris; his cousins Bob and Dorothy, Darrell Moore and Arcola Johnson; Mr. Jones, a neighbor, Eugene Hester; Mr. Hall, leader of a junior audubon club, James Watson; members of the club, Doris Fay Joyner, Jack Brown, Betty Sue Oldham, Charles Smith, Hazel Hobbs and Robert Lee Foster.

The birds used in the play were made by Vann Haislip, Betty Sue Oldham and Hazel Hobbs. The birds were handled in the play by Eugene Hester, Betty Sue Oldham, Betty Lou Beal, Hazel Hobbs, Elizabeth Apple and Vann Haislip.

The bird calls were made by J. D. Mabe, John Lee Webster, Vann Haislip, Eugene Hester, Betty Lou Beal, Billie Mae Bell, Archi Lee Douglas, Herman James, Patsy Haithcock Doris Herrin Gaynelle Martin and Bertha Russell. Stage manager and chief technician was Vann Haislip. Assistants were: Billy Tidwell and Iva Perdew.

We enjoyed writing and producing our play and we hope our audience liked it.

We were pleased to have as special guests at our play Miss Margaret Flintom, of Woman's college, and also some members of the Junior Audubun club of the Clara J. Peck school. They were E. N. Hale Jr., Jackie Fruitt, Elizabeth McCulloch, Tommy Mead, Arlen Berry and Miss Betty Hale, who was kind enough to bring them in her car. We also were very glad to have as members of our audience Sergeant Arnold A. Culbreth, Mrs. L. H. Bell, Mrs. R. L. Hobbs and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Moore.

Our grade is the proud possessor of a brand new book entitled "Maude For a Day" by Hugh Troy. This book is a present from Miss Margaret Flintom, who brought it to us the day she came to see our play. It is a very funny and interesting story about a mule who took the place of a regular mascot at an Army-Navy football game.

FIFTH GRADE—Room 16

We are glad to have all our friends back who have been sick. They are Doris Johnson, Shirley Hinshaw, Richard Childress, Janette Brown, Elaine Leonard and Herman Johnson.

The Glee Clubs of Ceasar Cone school presented the program at the P.-T. A. meeting, Tuesday night, March 28. It was a very rainy night, so the audience was small but very appreciative of the work the children had done in preparing the program. The first two numbers were written by boys in the seventh grade. The program was as follows: "The Merchant Marines", by Clyde Ward. "Keep 'Em Flying", by Clarence Beal. "Marianina, an Italian folk song. "Coming In On a Wing and A Prayer' by Adamson. "I've Got Sixpence", a British Air Cadet Song. "Hymn to the Stars" by Baum. "Picardie" by Osgood. "Lonesome Valley", a mountain spiritual.

"There were so many planes up there over Berlin that we were choosy about which ones we shot down."—Capt. Don Gentile, of Piqua, O., who helped shoot down six.
